Subject: looking for mail

Hi everybody,

By now, I was hoping to have received some details from Novartis about one of their methylphenidate capsules.

It may look like a lot of other "junk mail" but it will be a statement from one of their QC officials regarding the mass of the material inside the capsule.

My case is a tampering and the markings of the capsule halves are not aligned and the volume of material inside, seen through the caps, are distinctly different.

Could you all be alert to what may appear to be just more "junk mail" from Novartis and let me know if you see it. Thanks, Mike
